Mass Meeting At Teen Age Club Tuesday Evening

The "Teen Age Club" is having a mass meeting of all interested Teen Age students of Carmel on Tuesday night from 7:30 to 8:30 to discuss plans for coming dances and future policies of the club.

Last Saturday The Club had an All-Stag dance attended by over 70 boys and girls. Refreshments were managed by Mary Gregory and Charlotte Finger. The sandwiches were donated by Mrs. Arthur Templeman, Mrs. O. A. Holm, Mrs. John Thompson, Mrs. Lynn Hodges, Mrs. O. W. Irwin and Mrs. J. O. Handley. Decorations arranged by Jane Coughlon and Adele Thompson were supplemented by an eight-point deer head

FRATIES INVESTIGATING BURGLARIES

Chief of Police Roy Fraties was investigating Thursday four apartment house burglaries involving $400 to $500 in jewelry and $200 to $300 in cash. The thefts which occurred in three different apartment buildings in Carmel, were reported late Wednesday night and Thursday morning.

loaned by Mr. C. Stender.

Wednesday afternoon at the Advisory Board meeting it was decided to limit attendance at the Club to Carmel students with a provision for having guests attend dances if reservation is made with Mr. Learned, counsellor, by six o'clock the evening before the dance by a member of the Club.

The Club is still looking for a piano and a davenport.

Bob Farley Gets Air Medal With Oak Leaf Cluster

Lt. Robert H. Farley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Farley, Lincoln and Eighth street has been awarded the air medal with cluster, his parents learned here this week.

Lt. Farley, Bob, a Carmel boy who went through Sunset and Monterey High School, entered the service June 1942, and became a glider pilot before his transfer into the army air force. Now a pilot of a Mustang P 51, based somewhere in England, he has completed over thirty missions.

RETURNS FROM WISCONSIN

Miss Carmalita Benson who has been visiting in Madison, Wis., will return to Carmel next week.

Everybody Goes Back To School Monday, Sept. 11

Classes will be resumed at both Sunset and High School Monday morning, September 11, at Sunset at 9 o'clock, at High School at 8:45.

Sunset students will find their names posted on their class room doors, and High School students will receive their schedule of classes at the administration building. Following the first class at the High School there will be a general assembly when Superintendent J. W. Getsinger will welcome the students back and introduce the ten new members on the faculty.

Gladys K. Dixon Will Now Have To Explain To Judge

Mrs. Gladys K. Dixon will have to answer in city court for having moved and remodelled a garage without obtaining a building permit.

"A flagrant violation has been committed and the violator will be made to answer," was the finding of the city council Wednesday night after a fifteen day consideration of her case which was brought to the council's attention at its August 23 meeting.

The council then moved that the city attorney be instructed to "take necessary action regarding the violation."

Action in this case will consist in the filing of a complaint by City Attorney Peter Ferrante with City Judge George P. Ross, charging Mrs. Dixon with violation of the building code, the maximum penalty for which is a $300 fine, 90 days in jail, or both.

And this is only the opening gun in the Dixon-Carmel City Council engagement. For the court action concerns only her remodelling activities without benefit of building permit. There is also the matter of what the council will allow her to do with the remodelled garage which is an outlaw on another count, as it is equipped with kitchen and bathroom facilities, which makes it a "dwelling unit" and it shares the same lot with another house. The ordinance code prohibits two "dwelling units" from occupying the same lot.

Mrs. Dixon asked the councilmen at the August meeting that the lot, which is large, be "jerry-mandered," made into two lots, which would legalize the existence of the second dwelling unit.

At that meeting the council refused to consider any "jerry-mandering," expressing the opinion that if it was done in this case it would be requested in others and soon the effectiveness of the building ordinance would be nullified.

At Wednesday night's meeting, Mrs. Dixon asked if she could rent the remodelled garage as a "guest house" closing off the offending kitchen unit. The council refused to consider any matter that had to do with the use or disposal of a house that hasn't a building permit.

Adm. Turner Flies Home For Leave

Word was passed happily around among Carmel citizens Wednesday, "Kelly Turner is in town!"—and so he was, flown in from the South Pacific, and this time he has Guam, Saipan and Tiaran in his duffelbag. When he last came home on June 25, 1943, he had Guadalcanal and New Guinea on board.

Wednesday there was time only for a brief visit with his sister, Miss Lucile Turner, his brother, John K., and a few hours with his wife at their home on Carmelo and Fourth before he was off on official business in connection with his command. When that is attended to, within a week or so he hopes, he will return for leave and rest at home.

And the "Kelly" Turner that Carmel knows, who brought his bride here shortly after his graduation from Annapolis in 1908, because this was the home of his family, who has returned here whenever his active and brilliant career in the navy has made it possible, talked contentedly of how good it was to be here, but Vice Admiral Richmond K. Turner, Commander of the Amphibian Fleet in the Pacific, the man under whose leadership American forces are tearing, island by island, Pacific land out of the grip of the Japs, was not free to release anything on recent action in the Pacific for publication yet, but he could say he "is optimistic about the war in the Pacific" and he sounded optimistic in spite of

Book Review—

With the compliments of Congressman George E. Outland, the Pine Cone received a useful and in many respects astonishing book this week entitled, Congressional Directory, 78th Congress, 2d Session, June, 1944. It contains everything you know or might want to know about Congress as well as a number of things you would never suspect.

Following fifteen pages of table of contents—the entire book contains 917 slick paper pages, a hefty volume with handsome, blue board cloth binding; we wouldn't be surprised if it cost as much as $3.50 a copy to print even in monstrous quantities;—comes the biographical section containing brief who's who sketches of Vice President Wallace and the senators and representatives grouped under their states. We skipped Alabama, Arizona and Arkansas to check up on California, and sure enough,

Sophistication Markes Naive Play Of The 90's

Despite the announcements in the program that the production of "The Drunkard" last Friday and Saturday was to be presented in the traditional Barnum manner, the expert direction and sophisticated touch of Ruth Marion McElroy lifted this old morality play out of the realm of lugubrious exhibition of the "Evils of Drink" into a light and gay comedy that kept the audience laughing and applauding all evening. It is to be presented again this Friday and Saturday at Sunset auditorium at 8:30 o'clock.

The cast is excellent and sustained the light and gay mood set by Ruth McElroy. As the loyal and persevering wife of the drunkard, Ruth McElroy's flexible and expressive voice and engaging stylized gestures created a satisfying reflection of the Mauve Decade. The fall of the hero and the consequent regeneration of the drunkard—played by Dan Welty, was as spectacular and as elevating as the swoop from gutter to president. Lloyd Weer was a smooth villain of a Mephistophelian hue and inspired the properly outraged boos and hisses. Too little was seen of Charlott Kett, the long suffering mother. Carol Joyce Hildebrand was a very edifying and winning daughter, Julia. The charming Judith Brines lifted the role of Agnes out of the routine of dull nit-wits by juggling Agnes and Ophelia. Lee Crowe was an exuberant and lively William Dawton minus all the old tricks of playing the country bumpkin; Ted Kuster was a goody, goody Samaritan; and Fritz Wurzmann repeated his role in the original production with much gusto.

The costumes were gay and colorful in the whimsical style of Goday's Lady's Book and the settings of Franklin Dixon, enchanted by the expert lighting of Bill France, in design, color and humor skillfully preserved the naivete of the nineties in a modern style. Some of the scenes had the simplicity and brevity of one of our grandmother's samplers but the wedding scene could have been signed by Rousseau. The bar-room was especially amusing and effective and the honors should be divided between Dixon's bar and Nesbit's lush line drawing. One or two of the sets were tres intime and, on the spacious stage of the Sunset School, resembled the classic Victorian Conversational Pieces.

Ably directed by Louise Welty, the Olio, in spite of the hazards of a First Night, was lively and smooth. Allen Knight, Master of Ceremony, was gratifyingly authentic—Barnum's best barker transplanted from the platform before the Big Tent to the boards behind the footlights—and his patter and pantomime delighted everyone. The costumes and musical performance of the Hungarian Band were so risible that any pantomime seemed almost superfluous. The enticing wiles and pleasing voice of Judith Brines supported by the husky chorus of Singing Waiters captivated her audience. The Hildebrand Sisters sang and danced with the greatest of ease and their versatile mother, accompanist and soloist for the entire performance, displayed unusual skill and dexterity. An outstanding number was given by the Singing Waiters and leaving out the old classic, Sweet Adeline, for which everyone was waiting, proved a very effective teaser. Carl Bensberg showed an unexpected talent for pantomime. The "dark horse" partner of the cunning little Alys Knight turned out to be Ken Carleton—a bumptious little Lord Fauntleroy playing up to a petite and demure Elsie Dinsmore. And-of-course, "the surprise" of Ruth McElroy and Allen Knight was a riot. Ruth McElroy is inimitable and Allen Knight gave her excellent support.

A colossal bouquet of everlasting plucked from the garden of Auld Lang Syne should be presented to the entire cast for a unique and very entertaining performance. E. M. and H. D.

Last Lions Ball Game Set For Wednesday

The Lions will stage their last softball game of the season between the Lion Tamers and the Tail Twisters Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock on the High School Athletic Field, it was announced at the club's dinner meeting Tuesday night at Whitney's.

It has not yet been decided who will replace Frank Murphy, pitcher for the Lion Tamers, who sustained a broken wrist in the Lions Club ball game two weeks ago.

Guests at the meeting were Jack Eagal of Stockton, Howard Gibens, and Capt. Ivan McCullough who was also the speaker. Capt. McCullough, who is in charge of public relations for the Presidio Separation Center, spoke of the assistance and consideration given the men as they are discharged from the service.

Sensitive, Humorous, "Jeannie," Playhouse Flicker Has Charm

In the midst of a desperate and ferocious war, with her farflung imperialism and her very existence challenged, England has succeeded in producing and relishing a gem-like motion picture comedy that is unlike anything Hollywood has ever put forth in its thirty years of ups and downs. The picture is "Jeannie," and it will be shown all next week at Carmel Playhouse, beginning on Tuesday night. Two shows each night, with a suggestion from the management that capacity houses are in order, and that the first show audience should be seated by seven o'clock.

"Jeannie" holds the record at San Francisco's Clay Theatre, with a run of four months. The Little Carnegie in New York has held it for more than a year and it is still running there. It is not easy to describe this enchanting film. A Scottish lassie, a dour little drudge with a thrifty and humorless father, loses the latter and becomes his heir to the magnificent extent of 297 pounds. She takes her entire tiny fortune and blows it in on a week in Vienna, where she "can hear them play the Blue Danube at its soor-r-ree". Naturally she runs into a penniless nobleman, who wines and dines her—at her expense. Hovering in the background is a delicious Yorkshire washing-machine inventor, played by well known Michael Redgrave. Jeannie's bubble bursts even before the week ends, but you won't find her out on a limb! Not her, with her inherent Scotch good sense—nor does the glib washing-machine salesman miss

PLANS CHANGE

Mrs. Richard Weller, who expected to leave Carmel the last of the month to join her father, Colonel George B. Norris in Seattle, has just received word that Colonel Norris has left Seattle after only three weeks in that port. Col. Weller is in Panama with the Caribbean Defense Command. Mrs. Weller's plans are indefinite but she will be in Carmel for at least a month longer.

his opportunity.

Barbara Mullen, unknown to films or stage until this picture, gives a distinguished performance as the little grub who becomes a butterfly for a few days. The entire New York Press agrees that hers is one of those flawless and marvelously sensitive portrayals that come once in a blue moon.

There will be two matinees, Wednesday and Saturday.

Roberts Paper, Sullivan Negro Songs, Interesting Program At All Saints' Women's Auxiliary Luncheon Meeting

In the absence of R. Ellis Roberts, convalescing from a recent illness, Mrs. Roberts read the talk on Negro Spirituals he had prepared for the monthly luncheon meeting Wednesday of the Women's Auxiliary of All Saints' Church. Following the talk, Noel Sullivan sang a group of spirituals with understanding and appreciation.

In his paper, Dr. Roberts said in part:

"James Russell Lowell once wrote an essay on 'A certain condescension to be observed in Englishmen.' Perhaps one whose allegiance is English may be forgiven for noticing a certain condescension to be observed in the white inhabitants of this country towards their coloured fellow-citizens. It was a naughty foreigner on a visit to this country who, when he heard a familiar and friendly statement of a white American 'Oh, of course, the Negroes are such children' remarked that 'In that he didn't see that the Negroes differed so much from other Americans—or from the rest of the human race!' But, leaving aside such mischievous comment,—the fellow was infected with French blood—I would like to insist that whatever of childlikeness is in the spirituals it is not a quality to which any man, especially any Christian, should condescend. It is the same quality which characterizes the small child in the Hans Christian Andersen story about the Emperor's New Clothes. It is a simplicity essentially direct and revealing.

"Now certain white singers of spirituals are not free—however good their singing—from a certain condescension towards the makers of the songs they sing. It is the freedom from any kind of condescension which, to my mind, gives Noel Sullivan's rendering of the songs their peculiar and haunting quality. Noel Sullivan is my oldest Carmelite friend. When Mrs. Roberts and I first came to this community we were asked by that heroic lover of truth, Charles Erskine Scott Wood, to a dinner-party where we first met Noel Sullivan. After dinner he sang, and sang some spirituals—and a song by a great English artist which might almost be called a spiritual, William Blake's Little Lamb, Who Made Thee?

"There is no need, and I have no right and no knowledge, to speak about the technique of his singing, all I know is that when he sings I can hear the impulse that made those songs, and am aware that the singer understands the goal at which their makers were aiming."

Mr. Sullivan's program consisted of: I'm So Thankful That Troubles Don't Last; Oh, What a Mornin'; There's a Balm in Gilead; O Mother, Don't You Weep When I'm Gone; Lord, I Want to Be More Lovin'; O, Peter, Go Ringa Dem Bells; Water Boy; Deep River; Sometimes I Feel Like a Motherless Child; I Know the Lord Laid His Hand on Me; Go Down Moses; Every Time I Feel the Spirit.

He was ably accompanied by Mrs. John Alexander of San Francisco.

Community Chest Drive Opens Oct. 1, Quota Up Slightly

Jimmy Doud, Chairman for Carmel for the Monterey Peninsula Community and War Chest Annual Drive, is lining up his committee this week for the opening of the campaign on October 9, Mrs. Marion Todd, for the organization, said yesterday.

The goal this year is $68,472 for the Peninsula, about a 6 per cent increase over the $64,400 asked last year. The need for additional funds is due to the chest's taking on two new agencies, The Club, teen-age club in Carmel, and The Boys' Club in Monterey.

Mrs. Dwight Morrow has been appointed drive chairman for Carmel Valley.

AAUW Board Meets At Miss Whitehead's

Executive Board of the Monterey Peninsula branch of the American Association of University Women met last night at the home of Miss Frances Whitehead in Pacific Grove to plan the year's activities. Officers this year are Miss Harriet M. Baker, president; Mrs. Libby Durein, vice-president; Mrs. Alice Carmean, treasurer; Mrs. V. A. Cherrington, secretary. The first meeting of the association will be held on Saturday, September 23 at Holman's Solarium. Miss Ling-Fu Yang, Chinese artist now living in Carmel, will be guest speaker.

Committee chairmen for this year are, education, Frances Whitehead; international relations, Eileen Brereton; social studies, Mrs. John H. Gratiot; economics and legal status of women, Harriet Ferrante; arts, Mrs. Ferdinand S. Ruth; fellowship, Effa Spencer; legislative, Mrs. Blanchard Steeves; membership, Libby Durein; publicity, Frances Sortais, Monterey and Pacific Grove, and L. Lucile Turner, Carmel; general hostess, Mrs. Charles E. Simpson; book section, Elizabeth Hill; recent graduates, Mrs. Robert Petersen; volunteer services, Frances McGrath.

Government Pays Taxpayers—And Fellas That's News

Here is the story to warm the hinges of John Citizen's heart, a heart that has been bleeding pennies, nickels and dimes in federal taxes every time he buys a pack of cigarettes, makes a phone call, or—Everybody can fill out his own list, the possibilities seem limitless.

The Carmel Sanitary district board members at their meeting Tuesday night were electrified by the announcement of Clerk Protem, W. H. Satchell, that he had collected a $19.14 rebate from the telephone company, a refund on federal tax paid on telephone service by the Sanitary board since 1941. Public bodies are not required to pay federal tax on their telephone service. The Carmel Sanitary District is a public body, therefore—

It seems like a dream.

Drunkard Company Goes On Tour

The entire Drunkard company which entertained Carmel with its presentation of the old melodrama at the Sunset Auditorium Friday and Saturday and will repeat again this Friday and Saturday at 8:30 o'clock, trekked to Fort Ord Thursday to put on two performances, one at 6 o'clock at the Hospital for the patients, and another at 8:30 at Recreation Hall.

The hospital reciprocated by entertaining the cast at dinner.

of MEN and BEASTS

By PHIL NESBITT

The opinions and sentiments expressed in this column are strictly Phil's and do not necessarily represent the opinions and sentiments of the editor and staff of this paper.

Chickens are odd creatures. They are normally underestimated. They are . . . to begin with . . . acutely feminine, if they are hens. They possess a certain coy, ludicrous maternal sense. This sense is somewhat scrambled up, being comprised of habit and instinct and circumstance, plus other abstract and unaccounted elements. A hen yard filled with hens is not unlike a woman's club. In fact, it is exactly LIKE a woman's club, only more so. Jealousy and gossip are both rampant therein. Add a couple of alien new hens to an established yard of hens, and there begins a most acute form of ostracization. The two 'new members' stand disconsolately off in a bare corner—denied food and comfort, friendship and the curious brand of chicken humanity which makes for cosy inner-circle relationships among the hens.

At night, when the hens have retired, a warm and intimate form of unutterably coy clucking goes on. It's the bedtime murmur of a multitude of happy little women. Their small and more or less human spirits are contemplating the egg to be laid tomorrow. This egg, they deliver daily in payment of their food. I am certain it has to do with the basic biological integrity of the feminine which prompts the keeping of the contract.

Raccoons are almost disappointingly human. They have handy small hands, a cross between the hand of a child and the paw of a bear. Also, they are the very brightest of local forest dwellers. Compared to the deer which ever so constantly nip off the best buds in the garden, the raccoon is a Walter Lippmann to a booby hatch dweller. Our share of coon-dom, which consists of one extremely old and wise raccoon, is enough. Indeed too much. Nightly this grandfather of coons makes raids on the small estate. He climbs on the garbage can, takes hold of the handle of the lid and by then jumping, removes it. He then struggles off the big can and places the lid against the nearest tree.

If you wish to be bathed in just cynicism, if you care about partaking of the intellectual reactions of a straightforward cautious, untrammelled, disillusioned brain, read the volume called 'Generation of Vipers' by Mr. Philip Wiley. In it, he takes apart the structure of falsity known as The American Way of Life. This he does, as a man who loves his country but regrets seeing it slowly turn in a moral shambles and a hectic hodge-podge of illogicalisms.

It is a book which confirms the worst trends of the philosophical thinker. It is a book, far too honest to be accepted by the American public, doped as it is with a million and half slogans—slogans which take the place of logic and wisdom.

Col. Jay Honored By Both French And American Commands

Col. Henry Jay of Carmel, who commands the 2nd Corps Artillery with the Fifth Army in Italy, has been awarded the Croix de Guerre and the Silver Star by the French for his cooperation with the French Army under General Juin. These decorations were given Col. Jay August 13.

Mrs. Jay received Wednesday of this week a copy of the general order dated August 20, awarding the Legion of Merit to Col. Jay for services in Italy from March to June 10, 1944. Thus, Col. Jay has been signally honored by both the French and American armies.

Mrs. Jay has been living in Carmel since last October when they bought the Arnold Genthe house at 11th and Camino Real. Living with Mrs. Jay are her two daughters, Mrs. George S. Eckhardt, whose husband is an officer on the staff of Admiral Spruance, and her little daughter, Jay, and another daughter, Mrs. William L. Starnes, Jr., and her three months old son. Mrs. Starnes' husband, Capt. W. L. Starnes is with the First Army in Belgium and has just received the Bronze Star for heroism in action.

Heavy Fire Loss In Trevett Home At Hatton Fields

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney A. Trevett in Hatton Fields was almost completely destroyed by fire Thursday morning, as the State Fire Department was able to save only the garage and library wing.

The loss is estimated at $50,000.

The fire was discovered and reported to the Carmel Fire Department at 2:30 in the morning but as the Trevett residence is outside the city limits and the Volunteer Fire Department is supported by City tax funds they are legally prohibited from furnishing protection outside the incorporated area of the city.

The State Forestry Fire Department at the top of the Carmel Hill, and the Highlands Fire Department responding to the call found that their efforts were greatly impeded by the lack of hydrant facilities. The nearest hydrant was the last within the city limits, near the Paul Flanders residence, a considerable distance from the fire. Water had to be hauled down from the high school by the State Fire Department pumps.

Exact cause of the fire was not determined, though it is believed to have originated in the kitchen area.

Citizens Asked To Help Put Up Sardine Pack

Using for its slogan, "Unless you pack it, our boys can't eat it," the Monterey Peninsula Victory Food Committee are putting out an appeal this week for Peninsula citizens to sign up for work in the canneries so that none of the sardine pack will go to waste.

Six out of every ten cans of sardines produced in Monterey go to American fighting men and the allies, the committee points out, so that any failure on the part of citizens at home to furnish the labor to put up the pack means a deprivation for our service men and women in the theatres of war.

Citizens willing to serve in this war work should sign up at the U. S. Employment Service in Monterey.

Sacred Concert At Carmel Mission Is Rare Experience

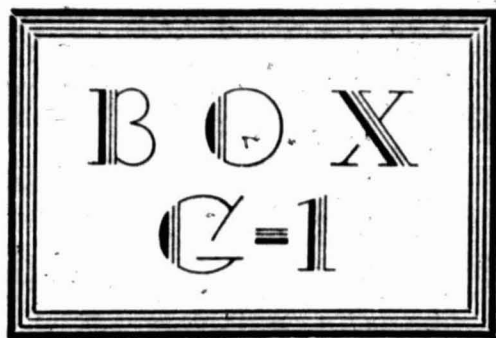

If the anniversary of the death of Father Junipero Serra, founder of the Carmel Mission, is annually to be celebrated by a sacred concert in the edifice where his mortal remains are interred it would behoove the residents of the community, regardless of their faith, to make an effort to be present on this occasion. An hour of music in the candle-lit, memory-laden mission is an experience as rare as it is precious in these days of turmoil and bewilderment.

Noel Sullivan and the choir, which includes Blanche Gibbs, Ruth Cooke, Gladys Young, Edith and Betty Fontaineau, Carl Bensberg, Sam Miller and Cpl. Luke Luchetti, presented a beautiful and original program. Starting with the choral work, "Hear My Prayer" by James, "The Blessing of St. Francis," (unaccompanied) set to music by Father da Silva of the Franciscan Order, came like an answer to the initial petition. After this, an Easter Hymn, based on a Breton folk-song by a composer named Gaul, was filled with exultant hope in the mystery of resurrection. "The King Of Love My Shepherd Is," which proved to be a poetic adaptation of the Twenty-third Psalm, concluded this group on a tone of pastoral serenity and rejoicing.

The superb soprano voice of Agatha Turley was heard in three solo numbers; "Why Art Thou Cast Down," Speaker; "O Divine Redeemer," Gounod; and an "Ave Maria" by Saint-Saens, which in its melodic simplicity and unearthly wistfulness recalled the mode of a Gregorian chant. Miss Turley, who is a most successful church and radio singer in San Francisco, is one of the few vocalists to have studied with the great Irish tenor, John McCormack. In her voice there is the quality of the thrush. Her musicianship is impeccable and the word content of the song is communicated with fervent conviction stripped of all affectation. It is to be hoped that Carmel audiences will hear her again—perhaps when the Bach Festivals are resumed. This voice with orchestra would be a thrilling combination.

Capt. George Artz, at present stationed at Fort Ord, sang "Vergin tutto Amor" of Durante, and his magnificent baritone voice recreated impellingly the prayerful supplication of this 18th Century composer.

The concluding group before Benediction was made up of three choruses. Granville Bartock's "Requiem" (the words by Robert Louis Stevenson) had a singular appropriateness at this time when so many are heavy with anxiety for the sailor and the hunter—their goal and their home. "Just For Today," by Seaver, was an appealing setting of a well-known

Dear Editor:

Before I leave Carmel I want to thank all the lovely people who have said nice things to me and about me. This has been my third summer here with my secretary-companion. And I want to thank the tail wagers for being so gentlemanly to a tail waver. It was very thoughtful of someone to put all the dogs on a leash before I arrived, though, of course, I think my twenty-foot one better than their short ones. Carmel is so full of delicious smells and interesting bushes that I really wish I didn't have to return to Palo Alto. Good bye.

and much-loved verse, and finally, "The Carol of the Roses," by Kountz, shook the rafters with triumphant allelujas. It was indeed the impression of many in the audience that the old mission bells had actually accompanied this anthem.

The choir and the organist would be justified in feeling proud of their performance that evening and no small amount of praise is due to the extraordinary acoustics of the old mission which augment and enhance, almost magically, all musical effects. The singers are to be congratulated on their fine intonation and modulated dynamics as well as the reverential and intentful reading of the words of the texts.

It was dusk when I had entered the Mission but an hour later the black night enveloped its surroundings. Walking out into the darkness, remembering music, flowers and incense, I looked back at the "kindly light" which emerged from the old door-way. Distinctly I had the feeling of having visited a far-off land (a country at peace!) and of having heard tidings of comfort and significance. —S. N.

Ban Placed On Clams; Mussel Quarantine On Until Oct. 31

All clams along the coast line of Monterey County are unfit for human consumption, Doctor Kenneth C. Sheriff, County Health Officer, said last week in issuing a quarantine order which makes it unlawful to take, sell or offer them for sale during the banned period.

The quarantine on mussels, also in effect at this time, will continue to October 31. Until then they may not be taken or sold for any other purpose than fish bait and then they must be processed with salt and labeled "For fish bait only, unfit for human consumption."

Quarantine on clams will be lifted as soon as laboratory analysis indicates that the clams are safe for use as food.

Bronze Star For Lt. Col. Johnson

Lieutenant-Colonel Charles E. Johnson has been awarded the Bronze Star for meritorious service in direct support of combat operations while serving on the Fifth Army front in Italy, it was learned this week.

During the 3rd "Marne" Infantry Division's participation in the campaign in Southern Italy, Col. Johnson, a staff officer, rendered outstanding service. Again, during the preparations for and conduct of the Anzio-Nettuno beach-head operation his foresight and energetic executions of supply plans contributed in large measure to the campaign's success.

His wife, Mrs. Betty B. Johnson, lives at Lopez and Second, Carmel.

loan service for returning veterans of World War II who will want to own a home, a farm, or a business

V Bank of America VET-LOAN PLAN

Every Bankamerican feels a personal obligation to homecoming veterans...and considers it a privilege to serve them.

Many discharged veterans will want to own a home, a farm, or business. To serve such veterans, Bank of America has developed the Vet-loan Plan.

Vet-loan Plan will be coordinated with the Servicemen's Readjustment Act and will supplement the Government "G. I." Credit Program for Veterans. Vet-loan Plan is designed to give each veteran's problem individual attention—to help him get exactly the right loans for his particular needs and his ability to pay.

Vet-loan Plan will make available to veterans the local and state-wide credit facilities of this banking institution that has grown with and helped build California for over 40 years.

Vet-loan Plan will be in full operation as soon as the regulations governing the "G. I." Credit Program are issued by the government.

Whether you are in or just out of the service, or have a relative in the armed forces, ask at the neighborhood Bank of America about Vet-loan Plan.

Forest Hill School Opens September 20, To Have 3rd Grade

Preparations are being made for the opening of Forest Hill School on Wednesday, September 20. Two features will be added this year, a light and airy craft shop and a third grade group. The school now includes classes from kindergarten through the third grade.

The attractive, home-like atmosphere of the building, the facilities for out door classes and the limited enrollment makes it an ideal place for children who are not yet ready to live with large numbers or who may need special attention. There is a boarding department for a limited number of children. Excellent care is given in every respect.

There will be three on the faculty. Mrs. Oscar Doerflinger will conduct the kindergarten as she did last year. Mrs. Les Smith will teach first grade while Miss G. Anne Douglass will have second and third grades. Mrs. Doerflinger is a graduate of The Child Education Foundation in New York. Following her training, she had the opportunity of organizing and conducting a pre-school for the Allen-Stevenson School for Boys in New York City. Mrs. Doerflinger has also had valuable experience in social service centers as well as therapeutics with convalescing children at the New York Presbyterian Hospital.

Mrs. Smith graduated from the University of Wyoming and has studied at the University of California at Los Angeles as well as at Southern California. She specialized in first grade and taught in this department for six years. In addition to this, Mrs. Smith is well trained in music, art, dramatics and public speaking. These talents have been used over a wide range of grades during her experience.

Miss Douglass graduated from Pratt Institute and New York University. She has had a wide experience in all grades of the school. In the east, she organized and conducted a Country day school, also a boarding school. For many years she has served as head counselor at a large camp in Maine. Pupils may be registered at any time. An interview between a parent, child and Miss Douglass is requested. Telephone Carmel 2213 or write to the school P. O. Box 1835.

RED + NEWS

By HELEN A. FIELD

No one who reads the papers or listens to the radio can fail to be aware of the importance of the American Red Cross Nurses' Aide Corps in the world of today. No one who knows of the help and comfort the Nurses' Aides give to the sick can fail to be grateful for the clear vision and the generosity of the hundreds of patriotic American women serving voluntarily in our hospitals. They have seen the need arising out of the war emergency, have hastened to take training and then to give their time and energy to the work. Yet there are not enough Nurses' Aides to fill the places of the regular nurses who have been called into the service by our Government and are now caring for the sick and wounded in our Army and Navy. We need more Nurses' Aides.

The Carmel Chapter of Red Cross is glad to be able to announce the date of the opening of a new Nurses' Aide class. On Monday, September 18, the first session of the class will be held. It will be the last one offered in 1944 so every woman who wishes to take part in the vitally necessary work of caring for the sick in this period of emergency should enroll at once to be sure of her place in the class. Register now at the Staff Assistance desk just inside the entrance of Red Cross Headquarters on Dolores Street near Seventh.

ROBERT JONES COMES HOME TO BAZOOKA WELCOME

Robert E. Jones, Editor-Publisher of the Pacific Dairy Review, had a chance to come home to Carmel for a day. He encountered a bazooka bomb, had a chat with Helen Gahagan's young son, and went down to the Point to survey the abalone prospects—all of which became entertaining gist for his editorial mill and appears as follows in the last issue of his magazine:

We had a day at Carmel first time in a year and the recent tenant of our cottage had left a bazooka bomb in the garage. Maybe he brought it home from some far place as a souvenir and maybe it wasn't loaded, but there was no writing on it to tell. Al handled it gingerly when we picked it up in the garage and then came a debate about what we should do with the bomb. How to get rid of a thing that may be full of TNT, that's the question. Finally we thought of the fire department so we hauled it over there being careful to avoid any bumps on the way. We told the fireman what it was and warned him not to drop it and he said, "Don't worry, I'll handle it like a baby," and he did not seem too happy about this bazooka bomb. Later we saw him on the street and he said he had wished it off on the police department. Out of curiosity we went up to see the chief. Oh yes, the bazooka bomb, he said; he had called in the MP's and they had turned it over to a demolition squad and even now perhaps they were marching off with this souvenir into the sand dunes to find out if it were loaded. So if you find a bazooka bomb in your garage, that's how to get rid of it.

Driving down toward the Point we were accosted by a towhead about 12 and invited him to ride. Al, who likes boys (being a grandfather), recognized this youngster as one of his pals who used to fish last summer in the lagoon, so they talked fishing. Al suggested they meet at the lagoon this coming winter and catch some trout. But the towhead said he couldn't be there. "We are moving to Washington," he said. "You see mother is running for Congress and we'll have to go there when she's elected." So we asked him the name of his mother and he said, "Helen Gahagan." We'd just heard Miss Gahagan interviewed over the radio at the Democratic convention. So we sympathized with Peter Gahagan Douglass for having to go to Washington.

Down at Mission Point we looked over the abalone rocks and wondered if we'd have a chance this winter when the low tides come by daylight to get some abalones. The price is now about double what it used to be, about $1.60 a pound.

Last time we went after abalones was down at Mission Point, Carmel, on the shortest day of 1942. Scrambled over the rocks an hour and at dusk spotted an eight-inch shell pasted to a rock wall three feet under water. There was nothing to do but go in up to the hips, so we pried him off and found another close by. The two dressed out an even pound, so we got our delicious abalone steaks and protein that night free of money cost. Three of us could eat only a little more than a half pound, so rich is this meat.

Only during the minus tides does it pay to go after the big red abalone, which reaches its largest size on the Monterey Coast. Even then you must expect to get wet. The minus tides in the late fall are in afternoon and evening; in the spring, before sunup. One time in the spring we went down to Mission Point in a misty dawn. Brush rabbits scrambled ahead of us in the lane leading to the ocean. Surf was quiet and up from the beach came the foreign voices of a group of walking men clothed in the mist. The whole setting was eerie and called up in our memory an incident in Robert Louis Stevenson's thriller, "The Pavilion on the Links," which by the way,

A GENTLE BROWN-EYED NIGHT

*What beautiful space between the stars!
Cool, smooth-blue, clean as a forehead.
In the east a black wig of a cloud sags across the round sky skin;
in the west stands the angular face features of an island—
nose-crag, chin-cliff, breast-mound, cheek, temple, cranium-bulge.
Blessed is the river or sea channel that lies between—smoothly rippling, softly speaking a dark eloquent language of reflection.*

—D. L. EMBLEN

THIS IS NO TIME TO WEEP . . .

*We have forgotten what it is to sleep—
In England! . . . Pillowed, soft, untroubled, deep!
We have forgotten London's homing-lights:
Her sweet dusk-stillness and the peace of night's Returning laughter! . . . firesides' havening!—
We have forgotten what it is, to sing! . . .*

*But this we keep!—The sturdy British pride
That lets us meet disaster in our stride
And look on raining death—where stars should be—Knowing that stars are there! . . . That Liberty
Shall lift her proud, indomitable head,
And take new courage from fair England's dead!*

*There's much to be atoned, in God's hereafter!
For desecrated shrines! for murdered laughter! . . .
With children being slaughtered in their sleep—
God, dry our tears! This is no time to weep!*

TO WAR NURSES

(Bewailing A Lack of Cosmetics)

*Anemic of make-up, uncapped and sterile of white,
There is silk in your khaki—
Femininity even in helmets.
The cool white sheets of your fingers,
Soft beds of your voices
Is lipstick to men in the jungle.
The thin-blade steel of your spirits
Incises this horror to heal,
And sutures the mind against shock.
Beauty is yours—smooth as an opiate,
With the power of the point of a needle.
Look in their eyes and see for yourselves
How well-groomed you appear in courage!*

—DOROTHY LOOSLEY.

he wrote while living in Monterey in 1879. It was just fancy, for this was a party of hardy Italian fishermen. They waded into the water ahead of us and soon were feeling below the surface on the sides of great, seaweed crowned granite rocks to find the abalones plastered there. It was a minus 1.4 tide that morning, so we all prospered.

There's an informal Abalone Society in the Monterey country, which originated, we believe, with the poet George Sterling, an early settler in Carmel. It started the endless Abalone Song which has, through the years, grown to dozens of verses. First learned of this song when Jack London wrote many years ago in "The Valley of the Moon" of the time he and his bride spent on the Carmel Coast. Here are several verses:

*"Oh, some folks boast of quail on toast,
And they think it tony
But let me eat upon the beach
The toothsome abalone.*

*"He wanders free beside the sea
Where ere the beach is stony.
He flaps his wings and gaily sings
The plaintive abalone.*

*"The more we take the more they make
In deep sea matrimony
Race suicide cannot betide
The fertile abalone!"*

The real name of the red abalone, which reaches a diameter sometimes of nine inches, is "Haliotis rufescens." This on the authority of Edward F. Ricketts, author of "Between Pacific Tides," reaches a breeding age at six years and is probably a dozen years old when eight inches in diameter. Before the American came some of these spectacular shells were used for trading among the Indians and they have been found far inland in Arizona and New Mexico.

Chinese used to dry the meat; in our boyhood we knew them as "Chinese oysters" and you could chew for hours on a tough bit of meat. But now they can be marketed legally only fresh; the steaks sliced about a fifth of an inch thick should be pounded with a mallet before they are fried and then they become so tender they can be cut with a fork.

Well, we are not boosting the abalone as a substitute for dairy products. There isn't enough to go around, but if you like to fuss around a rocky California coast at low tide, you can have a steak of abalone, but you'll have to work for it. They must have been abundant in 1812 when the old Spanish character, Don Juan Obrigon, made his noted journey from the tip of Lower California to Monterey, as reported in Blanco's "Journey of the Flame." He thrived on abalones and says: "The abalone meat . . . is the most delicate of food. It is, our padres say, that manna with which God fed His people in the Red Sea country . . . it is the strongest food known and may have helped the Jews to subdue the Egyptians. He who eats a meal of abalone in the morning can work all day untired."

Mrs. Millis Reads People Vs. Property At Demo Club Meet

Trying on their war bonnets and sharpening up their tomahawks the Women's Democratic Club of Carmel gathered at the Sunset School last Friday afternoon. Monterey and Pacific Grove representatives of Democratic organizations were present at the pow wow.

Who should appear to pep up the ladies but Mike Power, chairman of the Monterey County Democratic Committee? He made suggestions for strategy in the coming campaign and told his experiences at the National convention held in Chicago.

The feature of the program was a paper read by Miss Ann Millis. This was a digest of an address by Mark Ethridge at the Oklahoma Democratic State Convention, entitled "Persons vs. Property." This address embodied the Principles that the Democratic Party is fighting for, that "the person is more important than property."

A review of the progressive accomplishments effected during the Roosevelt administration included administration in banking, home loans, soil conservation, social security, business, labor, and farm legislation and in our foreign policy.

"H. O. L. C. has saved some three million homes from foreclosure, twice as many farms have been electrified in eight years as in the fifty years preceding. Thirty million acres have been rescued through soil conservation. Reforestation was done by C. C. C. boys taken off the blind baggage of railroad cars. T. V. A.'s influence has reduced electric power rates and opened up means of livelihood for over four million people.

"Are we ashamed that we fed the unemployed, have we any apology for what we have done for business? The country's net income has risen from forty to seventy billion. Have we any apology for what has been done for labor? We certainly have no apology to the farmer. Farm income has almost doubled from 1932 to 1937. Today it is 40 more than in the darkest Hoover days. Mr. Hull has worked unrelentingly to tear down tariff walls which must come down if the world is to live in peace. We must know that the demand for an earned security, particularly for greater medical security in the rural areas will not die out." These are only a few of the accomplishments Mr. Ethridge enumerated.

"A great decision is to be made this year. Both the mind and the heart will figure in it. Both of them argue for a Democratic victory."

Mrs. Paul Low who has the honor of being a member of the State Central Committee from Monterey County gave an animated account of the State Central Committee Convention in Sacramento. At this meeting the poor showing of registration in the State of California was one of the matters discussed, and it was brought out that this state with a larger population lags behind, in registrations, states with less population. The Committee urged that attention of the voters be focused on Proposition No. 12, known as the Right of Employment proposition. This is a misleading proposition and a direct stab at Labor.

Mrs. John McDonough of Monterey who also attended the convention made a brief talk on her favorable impressions of the women members of the Committee.

Mrs. James Speakman of Monterey and Pacific Grove told what is going on in the Democratic organization, that the Monterey Peninsula Club of Men and Women is active.

Miss Clara Kellogg who presided, as president of the club, outlined campaign plans which include a non-partisan effort to mail absentee ballots to soldiers regardless of party affiliations. The club is mailing out large numbers of ballots. An effort to stimulate registration is another activity of the club. People may now register at Woods' Dolores Pharmacy and at Robert Leidig's home, over Rohr's Electrical Shop, as well as the regular places for registration.

It was suggested by Miss Rachael Hiller that the inspired talk made by Dr. E. O. Sisson at the Pacific Grove meeting, be broadcast. This idea was received with enthusiasm.

Business Association Decides On Bureau At Dinner Meet Sept. 20

Returns on the post card ballot on whether or not to continue sponsorship of the Community Information Bureau will be canvassed at a dinner meeting of the Carmel Business Association at Whitney's at 6:45 Wednesday, September 20, Adolph LaFrenz, president, announced this week.

Another matter that will come up for consideration will be the request of the Mission Trails' society for a contribution to their publicity fund.

Rowntree Receives Check 'Em Letter From Capt. Hull

The check 'em and save writer's cramp form of communication has now joined the army, judging by the specimen received this week by Bernard Rowntree from former City Councilman and Sunset School Principal, Capt. Art Hull, now on active duty with the American forces in Italy.

On a V-mail form are printed a number of comments, questions and possibilities of activity. The writer checks those that apply to him and the person he is addressing. The letter is headed, "Greetings from Italy" and illustrated with a long-eared pup wearing Uncle Sam's Star Spangled beaver hat. The stationery is provided by the American Red Cross.

From the statements Capt. Hull chose to check one gathers that he is well, wished he had more ambition but that he is doing lots of sight-seeing, day dreaming, wishful thinking, travelling and swimming. He hopes that Councilman Rowntree has everything he wants, has been behaving and has not forgotten to write. Italy is hot, the food is good, rest camp is swell, and Capt. Hull has been seeing Army and USO shows, historical spots and interesting places.

Though the check 'em letter has its limitations, it furnishes a double barreled source of entertainment as the astute recipient can find as much that is amusing and revealing by noting the possibilities that the writer did not check as those that he did.

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH

The service of the Holy Communion this Sunday at 8:00 a. m., and morning prayer at 11:00 a. m. with sermon message by the Rector, Rev. C. J. Hulsewe. The best loved hymns are part of the Service Schedule and the organist, Alice Lee Keith has made an especially fine selection of organ numbers. The Rector will have an announcement of great interest to all members and friends of All Saints' Church at this service which you will want to get yourself by being present. The Church School will open on Sunday, Sept. 17, at 9:30 a. m. and the full choir will return on that day also after the summer vacation recess. All Saints' Church is in reality a House of Prayer for All People, and is desirous of extending a sincere welcome to the visitor to Carmel. Children can be left in the Church School Annex, north of the church building from 10:45 a. m. on.

CHURCH OF THE WAYFARER

"How We May Find God," will be Dr. Crowther's sermon theme next Sunday morning at the Church of the Wayfarer. Margaret Sherman Lea will play a Franck program of organ selections. The Church School provides classes for all age-groups from Beginners through High School. Next week, a Parents' Fellowship Class will be organized to meet in the Sanctuary. All departments meet at 9:45. The church service is at 11:00. Visitors are cordially invited.

Mrs. Nixon Takes Office As President Of Wayfarer Auxiliary, Miss Turner Speaks On 'Our Traditional Step-Child'

The Women's Auxiliary of the Church of the Wayfarer installed its new President Mrs. D. E. Nixon on Tuesday when the Fall season was launched with a box luncheon followed by a most interesting program. Mrs. Nixon gave a history of the organization whose beginning dated back to 1909 when twenty-four women of the church founded the Ladies' Aid Society. "Looking Back Over the Years" was the title of Mrs. Nixon's talk. Only three of the original group are living, Mrs. Willis G. White, Mrs. Phillip Wilson and Mrs. Inez Warren. Mrs. Warren was the only one attending the meeting on Tuesday. This group carried on for ten years and then the Women's Auxiliary was organized at the home of Mrs. Alice Beardsley. There were nine charter members and Mrs. Beardsley is the only one left.

A turning point in the fortunes of the Auxiliary was their first rummage sale. By hard scrambling the organization had managed to keep going by giving church suppers and food sales but the rummage sale, which was an innovation in Carmel, brought in the vast sum of $301.11 and put the Auxiliary on a firm financial basis. This was in 1925 and in 1930 the group was able to assist materially in building the new Manse. The group grew and flourished until it became the strong organization that it is today.

Three of the members of the Auxiliary passed away this summer. Mrs. Maud Wyman, Mrs. C. E. Newton, mother of the new president, Mrs. Nixon. Mrs. Newton had done wonderful work as chairman of the Leper Work. This branch of the Auxiliary has on hand a thousand bandages for the Leper colony. Another member, Mrs. Clara Louise Beller died in Detroit where she was visiting her daughter.

New chairmen of the committees were appointed for the Leper work, Mrs. Edith Catlin, Calling, Mrs. W. B. Hamilton, The Press, Miss Lucille Turner, Altar, Mrs. Irene de Galler.

It was announced that $644.50 had been given for Chinese and Russian Relief divided equally between the two. This sum was given by the Church and the Auxiliary.

Rosemary Dickenson made a plea for workers in the surgical dressing and production rooms of the Red Cross. One hundred million surgical dressings are now being used every month and many hands are needed to provide them.

Women of the Church of the Wayfarer are forming a group to work on Thursdays in both departments at the Red Cross.

There was also a call for new magazines for the hospital at Ft. Ord. These may be left at the Red Cross for The Grey Ladies.

One of the minority groups in this country, the American Indian, was the subject for the program under the leadership of Miss L. Lucille Turner. The earliest American is probably the least considered of all minority groups in the United States, and yet thousands of their race are fighting overseas in our armies for a democracy that is not fully extended to them; they seem almost to be traditional step-children instead of direct heirs of the first people of the in the midst of the paths of judgment: That I may cause those that love me to inherit substance; and I will fill their treasures," (Prov. 8:1, 20, 21).

The Lesson-Sermon will also include the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The elucidation of Christian Science lies in its spiritual sense, and this sense must be gained by its disciples in order to grasp the meaning of this Science. In Christian Science, substance is understood to be Spirit, while the opponents of Christian Science believe substance to be matter," (p. 349).

Western Hemisphere.

Miss Agnes Williston played on the piano three short selections of Indian songs which were connected with the tribal ceremonies commemorating events in their history and having a spiritual meaning also, and Miss Turner read an account of their origin and significance and gave a brief discussion of their arts and customs. An exhibit was presented of Indian baskets from the Pacific coast area from Arizona to Alaska, with pieces of pottery from Indian Territory (Oklahoma) in 1882 and in 1900 and specimens of the best of this art, made by the Maricopa Indians in Arizona.

Unknown Fireman Not To Have Trip

Suspense as to who is to be the volunteer fireman to represent Carmel at the State Fireman's convention will not be relieved for some time—possibly not until after the war, Fire Commissioner Frank Hefling said yesterday. The convention has been called off because of transportation difficulties and shortage of hotel facilities.

The $100 for an expense account voted by the city council, will be earmarked and when conventions are again held, will be available.

MRS. TURNER RETURNS

Mrs. Frances Turner of Sacramento arrived Wednesday in Carmel and is the guest of Miss Agnes Williston on Lincoln and Eighth.

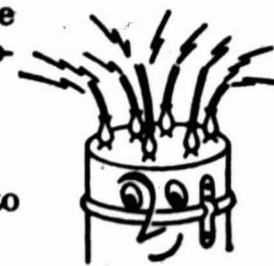

zines devoted to the Indians of today were shown along with a number of large photographs of Alaskan natives, their dugout canoes, their totem poles, fishing and cannery villages and the glaciers and snow peaks near their homes. These aroused much interest among the members of the auxiliary, some of whom had contact with Indians in their childhood.

Mrs. Turner is the sister-in-law of Mrs. W. B. Hamilton and a regular summer visitor in the village where she has many friends.

Another reason
we like California—
GAS AND ELECTRICITY IS SO CHEAP!

LETTERS HOME frequently praise the cheapness of California's electricity and Natural Gas. We've had newcomers tell us they could scarcely believe their first bill. They say they realize that winters are warmer—but they realize also that rates out here are a lot less!

This is something for Californians to take pride in, for—unlike our climate—these low utility rates are something we've had a hand in ourselves. They're low because we made 'em that way. And we don't consider they've hit bottom yet!

During the past ten years, while living costs have gone up 27%, P.G. and E. has reduced the cost of electricity 24% . . . gas 31%.

ORDINANCE NO. 42 N. S.

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING THE ORDINANCE CODE OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA, CALIFORNIA, BY ADDING TO PART VIII, DIVISION 3, A NEW ARTICLE TO BE DESIGNATED ARTICLE 9 REGULATING THE SALE OR DISPOSAL OF ELECTRICAL MATERIALS, DEVICES AND APPLIANCES AND BY ADDING SECTIONS 927 TO 927 (r), INCLUSIVE, TO THE ORDINANCE CODE OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA.

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1: Part VIII, Division 3 of the Ordinance Code of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, adopted by the City Council of said City on the 15th day of April, 1940, by Ordinance Number 1, N. S., be and is hereby amended by adding to Part VIII, Division 3, a new article to be designated as "Article 9 Regulating the Sale or Disposal of Electrical Materials, Devices and Appliances," and by adding new sections to be known as Sections 927 to 927 (r), inclusive, which sections shall read as follows:

"SECTION 927: SCOPE: From and after the effective date of this ordinance, no person, firm or corporation shall sell, offer for sale, loan, rent, dispose of by gift or premium, give or otherwise furnish, provide or make available for use any electrical material, device or appliance, designed or intended for attachment, directly or indirectly to any electrical system, circuit or electrical service for light, heat or power in the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea unless such electrical material, device or appliance complies with the provisions of this ordinance.

"SECTION 927 (a) RATING: All electrical materials, devices and appliances designed or intended for attachment, directly or indirectly to any electrical system, circuit or electrical service for light, heat or power shall be only those which conform with the requirements of this ordinance and of rules and regulations adopted pursuant hereto. Each such article shall bear or contain the maker's name, trademark or identification symbol, together with such rating by the manufacturer as may be necessary to determine the intended use. The correct operating volts and amperes or volts and watts shall be stated and no person, firm or corporation shall remove, alter, deface or obliterate any such marking.

"SECTION 927 (b) ADOPTION OF STANDARDS: All electrical materials, devices and appliances covered by and intended to be regulated by this ordinance shall conform with the code of safety standards for such materials, devices and appliances hereby adopted and approved, entitled "Code of Standards for Electrical Materials, Devices and Appliances in the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea" which code is hereby adopted by reference as though herein set out in full. Three copies of such code are on file for use and examination by the public in the office of the City Clerk of said City.

"SECTION 927 (c) DECLARATION OF LEGISLATIVE POLICY AS TO SAFETY STANDARDS: The City Council hereby declares that the national safety standards for such materials, devices and appliances on file in the office of the United States Bureau of Standards are the minimum standards required to provide an adequate degree of safety to life and property in said City, and further declares that it has incorporated said national safety standards in its "Code of Standards for Electrical Materials, Devices and Appliances in the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea."

The City Council hereby declares that there is need for uniformity between national safety standards and local standards and that it is one of the objects of this ordinance that as technological progress and refinements are made in national safety standards that similar progress and refinements be made in local safety standards, and to that end the City Council hereby declares that it is necessary that certain administrative rule making power be vested in the Building Inspector of the City in order to carry out the intent and purpose of this ordinance and to provide the City and its inhabitants with the degree of safety required to adequately safeguard life and property in said City.

"SECTION 927 (d) ADMINISTRATIVE POWERS OF THE BUILDING INSPECTOR: Whenever the Building Inspector of the City shall determine that there is a lack of uniformity between the national safety standards on file in the office of the United States Bureau of Standards and the code of standards adopted by this ordinance, and as and when refinements are made in the national safety standards which have not been incorporated as a part of the code of standards hereby adopted, the Building Inspector of the City is hereby empowered to adopt and promulgate such rules and regulations as he shall deem necessary to bring such code of standards into harmony with the national safety standards. Before any rule or regulation may be adopted hereunder, the proposed rule or regulation, in writing, dated and signed by such officer, shall be filed with the said "Code of Standards for Electrical Materials, Devices and Appliances in the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea" hereby adopted. Three copies of such rule or regulation shall be filed with the three copies of the said code on file in the office of the City Clerk. Such copies shall be available for use and examination by the public. Thereupon and thereafter such rule or regulation shall have full force and effect as though originally set forth in the code of standards hereby adopted.

"SECTION 927 (e) EVIDENCE OF COMPLIANCE: Listing or labeling of materials, devices and appliances by the Underwriters Laboratories, Inc., or other testing laboratory approved by the Building Inspector as complying with standards on file with the United States Bureau of Standards may be accepted by the Building Inspector as prima facie evidence of the conformity of such materials, devices and appliances with corresponding provisions of the code of standards of said City or of corresponding rules and regulations adopted hereunder.

"SECTION 927 (f) WHERE NO STANDARDS HAVE BEEN PROVIDED FOR: Where no standards have been adopted for any such materials, devices or appliances, the Building Inspector may require that such materials, devices or appliances be submitted to a testing laboratory or laboratories deemed qualified by him for testing same. Upon receipt of a report from such laboratory or laboratories, he may designate a standard for each such article submitted and tested, which designation shall be in writing and shall be adopted and promulgated as a rule or regulation in the manner herein provided. Any such standards so prescribed shall be designed to provide as a minimum the degree of safety to life and property as is required by the standards hereby adopted for materials, devices or appliances of similar or related character or nature.

"SECTION 927 (g) REVOCATION OF APPROVAL: Any approval granted by the Building Inspector may be revoked by him if the electrical materials, devices or appliances are found to be hazardous to life and property for the purpose used or intended, or do not conform with the standards under which they were approved for use. Before any approval may be withdrawn, the Building Inspector shall give notice in writing to the person to whom approval was granted of his intention to withdraw approval and shall afford such person an opportunity to be heard with respect thereto at a public hearing to be held thereon. In the event that approval is withdrawn or modified by the Building Inspector after such hearing, any person aggrieved thereby may appeal from the ruling of the Building Inspector to the City Council in the manner provided in this ordinance for the consideration by the Council of appeals.

"SECTION 927 (h) EXCEPTIONS: MATERIALS OTHERWISE COVERED: The provisions of this ordinance shall not apply to electrical materials devices and appliances which are the subject matter of regulation in City building and wiring ordinances heretofore adopted and in effect as of the date hereof.

"SECTION 927 (i) EXCEPTIONS: VEHICLES: The provisions of this ordinance shall not apply to motor vehicles or to motor vehicle equipment.

"SECTION 927 (j) EXCEPTIONS: LOW VOLTAGE DEVICES: The provisions of this ordinance shall not apply to electrical materials, devices or appliances designed or intended for attachment directly or indirectly to any electrical system, circuit or electrical service for light, heat or power operating at a primary voltage of not more than 25 volts or consuming less than 50 watts.

"SECTION 927 (k) EXCEPTIONS: SPECIAL APPLIANCES: The provisions of this ordinance shall not apply to those industrial or commercial appliances which are to be used in a specific location and which have been submitted to a laboratory for approval to determine their conformity with the standards herein provided for but with respect to which final approval by such laboratory is still pending, providing that an exception is applied for and granted in the manner herein prescribed. The person desiring to make such installation shall submit an application in writing for such exception to the Building Inspector accompanied by written evidence satisfactory to such Building Inspector indicating that laboratory approval has been applied for. Such exception if granted by the Building Inspector shall continue in force only during such time as such Building Inspector believes that the testing laboratory will grant final approval certifying compliance to the prescribed standards. If for any reason the Building Inspector believes that the testing laboratory has not made an adequate test of materials, devices or appliances, he may require that the same shall be submitted to some other laboratory, approved by him, for further tests.

"SECTION 927 (l) EXCEPTIONS: GENERATING DEVICES: The provisions of this ordinance shall not apply to electrical materials, devices and appliances installed by or for an electric utility for its use in the generation, transmission, distribution or metering of electrical energy.

"SECTION 927 (m) USED OR SECOND HAND DEVICES: In the rebuilding or repair of any such electrical materials, devices or appliances all parts replaced or repaired shall conform in all particulars with the code of standards and the rules or regulations hereby provided for.

"SECTION 927 (n) ENFORCEMENT: The Building Inspector is hereby directed to enforce the provisions of this ordinance. He is hereby authorized to delegate any of his powers under this ordinance to any of his assistants, with the sole exception of the power to adopt and promulgate rules and regulations which power may not be delegated by him.

"SECTION 927 (o) LIABILITY FOR DAMAGES: This ordinance shall not be construed as relieving or limiting in any way the responsibility or liability of any person owning and operating, controlling or installing any electrical materials, devices or appliances for personal injury or property damage resulting from the use thereof by reason of any defect therein or for any other cause, nor shall it be construed as imposing upon the City or its officers or employees of any responsibility or liability by reason of the approval of any materials, devices or appliances under the provisions of this ordinance.

"SECTION 927 (p) APPEALS: In the event that any person believes that unreasonable restrictions or unnecessary and extraordinary hardship or damage will be imposed upon him by the enforcement of any of the provisions of this ordinance or by the application of any of the standards hereby adopted or by the adoption or application of any rules or regulations by the Building Inspector, or from any rulings or determinations of such Building Inspector, such person may appeal therefrom to the City Council in writing and request a public hearing thereon by the City Council.

In the event of such appeal, the City Council shall fix a time and place for a public hearing thereon and shall give notice thereof in writing to the person requesting such hearing by mail, postage prepaid to the address shown in such request, and shall also give notice thereof to the Building Inspector. At the time fixed for such hearing or at any later time to which such hearing may be adjourned, the City Council shall proceed to hear the testimony of the appellant and of others in his behalf and of the Building Inspector and others in his behalf and of other competent persons who may be present and desire to testify or who may be called by the City Council to give testimony at such hearing. Upon the conclusion of said hearing, said City Council shall by resolution declare its findings and decision in the matter. If it finds that unreasonable restrictions or unnecessary and extraordinary hardship or damage will be imposed upon the appellant, then it may grant an exception or variance from the application in whole or in part of such provisions of this ordinance or of such standards, rules and regulations, rulings or determinations, or it may modify, rescind or otherwise alter such standards, rules and regulations, rulings or determinations, provided that in granting such an exception or variance or in taking such other action as it may deem justified, it may do so only in the event that such action may be taken in harmony with the general purposes and objectives of this ordinance to preserve the public health, safety and welfare. The decision of the City Council rendered after a hearing held in the manner prescribed herein shall be final and conclusive.

"SECTION 927 (q) PENALTY: Any person, firm or corporation, or any partner, officer, agent or employee thereof, violating any of the provisions of this ordinance or of the "Code of Standards for Electrical Materials, Devices and Appliances in the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea" hereby adopted, or of any rule or regulation adopted pursuant hereto, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than three hundred dollars ($300.00), or by imprisonment in the city jail of said City or in the county jail of Monterey County, as the committing magistrate may direct, for a period of not more than three (3) months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

"SECTION 927 (r) SEVERABILITY: If any provision of this ordinance, or the application thereof, to any person or circumstances, is held invalid, the remainder of the ordinance, or the application of such provision to other persons or circumstances, shall not be affected thereby.

SECTION 2: All ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict with this Ordinance are hereby repealed.

SECTION 3: The City Clerk of said City is, hereby instructed to cause this Ordinance to be published once in THE CARMEL PINE CONE CYMBAL, the official newspaper of said City, within fifteen days after its final passage and approval.

SECTION 4: This Ordinance shall take effect thirty days after its final passage and approval.

CERTIFICATION BY CITY CLERK

I, the undersigned, City Clerk of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true and correct copy of Ordinance No. 42 N. S., which was given its first reading at an adjourned regular meeting of the City Council of Carmel-by-the-Sea held on the 22nd day of August, 1944, and finally adopted at a regular meeting of the said City Council held on the 6th day of September, 1944. I further certify that upon its passage the foregoing Ordinance was signed by the Mayor of said City and attested by the City Clerk thereof.

DATED this 7th day of September, 1944.

PETER MAWDSLEY,
City Clerk.

Oak Leaf Cluster Added to Star For Lt. Col. F. P. Miller

Lt. Col. Franklin P. Miller of the 88th Infantry Division of the Fifth Army Front in Italy has been awarded the Oak Leaf Cluster to the Bronze Star for meritorious achievement in action.

Mrs. Miller, his wife with her little daughter Nancy, a pupil at Sunset School, who lives at Santa Rita and Pico has received the citation recounting the actions which earned for Lieut. Col. Miller his second decoration.

The citation reads in part: "For meritorious Service in support of combat operation in advance of infantry and tanks under enemy artillery fire. Lt. Col. Miller reconnoitered for howitzer position and guided the battalion to position. He encountered enemy resistance from small armsfire. In the fire fight that ensued, and with the aid of the reconnaissance party farther back, the enemy was forced to surrender to Lt. Col. Miller. This action resulted in one German killed, one wounded, and seven captured, including an officer.

In the move behind and ahead of infantry for further reconnaissance, Lt. Col. Miller succeeded in stopping a fire fight between friendly infantry units who had mistaken the identity of each other. He then organized an advance guard of special service to clear enemy resistance.

The following morning June 5, again on advance reconnaissance Lt. Col. Miller encountered the Infantry commander calling for artillery fire to clear an enemy strong point. Lt. Col. Miller's radio had been damaged, so he returned and initiated artillery fire from his battalion that neutralized the strong point."

Lt. Col. Miller was among the first in Rome. He was pictured in Life Magazine entering Rome in a jeep.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Miller have a host of friends on the Peninsula. They were at one time stationed at the Presidio of Monterey. He was a member of the 1929 class at West Point.

When the matter does come up for consideration there are three possibilities of action on the part of the council. They can grant her permission to have the lot "jerry-mandered;" they can order her to close off the kitchen unit and allow her to use or rent the house as a guest house; or they can order her to move it away or tear it down to and including the foundation.

In explaining the council's rigorous and commendable defense of the building code, the Mayor prepared a statement which reads in part:

"Our building ordinance was adopted after very careful consideration. The purpose of this ordinance is to safeguard the property values of the majority of our citizens who have come to Carmel to make permanent homes in a village where residential living is of prime importance.

"To deviate from this ordinance would destroy the charm of Carmel. It would mean eventually we would be inflicted with many overnight shelters that would, through necessity, rent for a very nominal sum, thus attracting an element that we do not care to attract.

"It is very easy to lose our own equilibrium under the guise of alleviating the housing shortage for the military. It is generally felt that if the military recognized the housing shortage in this area, it could pursue through proper channels an easing of the situation by making possible the building of legitimate homes by private citizens.

"The desire of this Council is to protect the interest of our present and future citizens. We do not intend to permit a violation of our ordinance. A flagrant violation has been committed and the violator will be made to answer. Any other violators of this ordinance which come to the attention of the council will likewise be made to answer."

Mary Littlefield Gets World's Best News From The Front

Just one week and a day after Mary Uzzell Littlefield received word that her husband First Lieut. Robert M. Littlefield was missing in action, she received a cable from him saying that he is safe, well and happy and expects to be home soon.

Mrs. Littlefield believes that her husband is in England but is not positive. She knows that he flies a Mustang P-51 and that he is practically covered with medals. He has been awarded the Air Medal, the Oak Leaf Cluster and the Purple Heart.

Mrs. Littlefield said that she did not know just what he meant by "being home soon" but that she hoped it was in two days.

Mary E. Collins

Though she lived here alone during the thirteen years after her retirement from teaching, Miss Mary E. Collins made many Carmel friends who grieved at her passing, August 31, at her home on Lopez street.

She was 79 years old, and had been a teacher in Indian Schools at Greenville, Plumas County, and in New Mexico. Christian Science Services were conducted for her at Paul's Mortuary in Pacific Grove, Monday at 2 o'clock.

Her sister, Miss Fanny Collins, of Great Barrington, Mass., is on her way to Carmel.

ANDREWS JURY DRAWN

In preparation for the trial on September 19 of Mrs. Frances Andrews, charged with the murder of Jay Lovett, Superior Judge H. G. Jorgensen required Edna Thorne, chief deputy clerk to draw 225 names to add to the jury panel. Also, the 40 members on the August panel were instructed not to appear in Superior court yesterday, as the civil case on which they were to serve had been settled out of court. Instead, they are to appear on September 19 for the Andrews trial.

Kelly Turner's Home And He's Looking Fine

his haste in adding "optimistic about the outcome, not necessarily about the time."

However he may qualify his optimism, his successes in the Pacific, especially the recapture of our own piece of land so gallantly lost, Guam, have made not only his own fighting men, but civilians throughout the nation optimistic without qualifications, and grateful.

He came home in June last year Rear Admiral Turner, with the Distinguished Service Medal and the Navy Cross. He arrives this time a Vice Admiral. But it was not the additional star on his shoulder Carmel was noticing Wednesday. The word that went around was, "Kelly Turner's in town and he's looking fine." There was no bone-break fever this trip.

Editorials...

they had included Hiram Warren Johnson and Sheridan Downey, with Hiram taking precedence over Sheridan, not only in position on the page but in number of lines, as the senior senator rated nine lines of biography while Mr. Downey received only five. Among the five and a half pages devoted to the representatives from this state, we found George E. Outland, under the Eleventh District where he is supposed to be, and outdistancing both senators put together in biographical space, with fifteen lines to accommodate all the colleges and universities where he has collected degrees, and colleges and universities where he has served as a member of the faculty.

After this biographical section, we find the editors have presented the senators and representatives in several other arrangements: according to state delegations, according to when their term of office expires; according to number of terms served consecutively; according to the committees on which they serve, and alphabetically. They did not list them according to whether they were blond, brunette, red-headed or bald, but we expect that in the next edition. Though these various listings may seem a bit repetitious to the casual reader, they are very serviceable when a person wants to look something up. And any time the reader gets bored with Congress he can skip to the more exotic subject of Foreign Consular Officers in the United States and discover on page 504 that Iceland has a vice consul in Grand Forks, North Dakota. Luxemburg has consuls in Washington, D. C., Chicago, Illinois, Minneapolis, Minnesota, New York City, and Redfield, South Dakota, while the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics has consular offices only in Los Angeles, San Francisco and New York City. Mexico, of course, has consuls all over the place, including Fresno—representatives in 53 cities in all.

But all that we have described above is just fills. The part of the book that gets down to business is the Executive Department section, headed by a twenty-line biography of Franklin Delano Roosevelt; and followed by a listing and description of bureaus, agencies and boards that remind one of Niagara Falls and the Grand Canyon. Whatever his politics, the reader cannot gaze on the naked machinery of so much government and control emanating from the appointive power of one man without a sensation of awe, regardless of what his supplementary reactions may be.
